

Editor's Note

In this issue, Thammasat Medical Journal (TMJ) offers various topics in medicine, orthopedics, ophthalmology, nursing, and alternative medicine sciences. Additionally, we have special articles related to coronavirus together with multiple interesting topics in editorial, miscellaneous, and letter to editor. As our journal covers various aspects of sciences, we aim to enhance the standard of our journal with the aim in the next few years to be in the SCOPUS citation index. TMJ will come up with various mechanisms to improve the visibility of your works in the science community. We would like to encourage our readers to contribute high standard articles to our journal. The editor team will try hard to improve the quality of TMJ in the year to come.

Anucha Apisarnthanarak, MD

Professor in Infectious Diseases

Editor, Thammasat Medical Journal (TMJ)